

White Would Deport 'Wets' On Soviet Ark

"William Allen," of Kansas, Comes Into Town With Guns Set for Edwards, Smith and Wm. Barnes

Skeptical About Hoover

Doubts Ex-Food Administrator Will Be Able to Gain Chicago Nomination

William Allen White, of Emporia, Kan., newspaper publisher, author and diplomat, says that if the Middle West provides the next President will appoint an Attorney General who will see that Governor Alfred E. Smith, Governor Edward I. Edwards of New Jersey and William Barnes, the Albany political leader, are packed aboard a Soviet ark and shipped out of the country, banished to the Isle of Champagne.

"It would have been an entirely justifiable act if Barnes, Smith and Edwards had been shipped out of the country on the ark," with Berkman and Goldman," said Mr. White to a Tribune reporter at the National Arts Club in Gramercy Park last night.

The Kansasian's observation concerning the "wet" Governors and the "wet" leader of Albany was prompted by the attitude those gentlemen have assumed toward the Eighteenth Amendment, which Mr. White says is just as much a part of the Constitution as the Fourteenth Amendment and as worthy of respect.

Talks About "Nullification"

Mr. White, who is a district delegate to the Chicago convention, says that Kansas is for Wood, but that he is going to vote on the first and probably on succeeding ballots for his friend, Governor Henry Allen of Kansas. He says that General Wood looks like a winner at this time, and that Hoover is very strong in the Middle West, especially among the women voters, but he thinks that Hoover will have little strength in the convention unless there is a prolonged deadlock. Of prohibition Mr. White said:

"If Barnes, Smith and Edwards hold that a man should be deported for raising hell in his attempts to violate the Fourteenth Amendment, we people out West think the fellows who wish to deprive the people of their rights by nullifying the Eighteenth Amendment are deserving of the same treatment. When the Middle West elects a President, we'll have an Attorney General who will be deporting these roosters. You can't say of the Federal Constitution, as was said of the vicar's egg, that 'parts of it are good.' Nullification is just as bad on the part of the fellow who stands for booze as for any other reason. Nullification is nullification."

California for Hoover

Asked about Hoover, Mr. White went on:

"Hoover will do very well among the folks. Most of the women folks of the Middle West are for him. People forage that Hoover is from California and he is very strong in the southern half of the state. Senator Johnson is wasting time campaigning in New York, Illinois and Indiana. With the women voting, Hoover may win California and land at Chicago with a considerable string of delegates. Johnson, with all his popularity and strength, has a real fight on his hands at home. California takes almost as much pride in Hoover as it does in Johnson. The Stanford University crowd are all for Hoover. I can't see that Hoover has much of a chance to win the nomination. His only hope is in a deadlock. He will not have any first ballot strength. Hoover would be elected, if nominated. The question is, do the fellows who hate Hoover and all his works want to make so sure of winning that they will forget Hoover's Wilson record and name a winner. The independents will decide the election."

Asked about the prospect of a third term for President Wilson, the Emporia statesman said, with hesitations: "Wilson is a tale that is told. The voters of this country will not take kindly to a third term proposition. One thing is sure, while Bryan may not be nominated, he will dominate the San Francisco convention. He can threaten to lead a bolt big enough to scare the leaders if they attempt to put a liberal plank into the platform."

U. S. Refuses to Name Russian Mission Member

State Department Announces It Has Declined Invitation of League Council

From The Tribune's Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, April 1.—Announcement was made today at the State Department that the United States had declined the invitation extended by the league of nations council to name a representative on a commission, to investigate conditions in Russia. It was said that as the United States had not ratified the Treaty of Versailles the government was not authorized to appoint a representative on a commission. It was also feared that the United States government might be bound by any decisions of that commission if an American delegate were in its personnel.

Suffrage Is Beaten, 25-6, In Delaware

Friday. This means that Senator Walker will probably hold off a vote in the Senate until more suffrage votes are assured.

Louisiana Faces Suffrage Battle

State Has Opportunity To Be Final Factor in Ratification Victory

Special Dispatch to The Tribune

NEW ORLEANS, April 1.—Defeat of the Federal suffrage amendment by the Mississippi and Delaware legislatures places the fight for the necessary thirty-sixth state to ratify up to the Louisiana Legislature. The Legislature convenes May 10.

The fight here promises to be a bitter one, with women suffragists themselves divided on ratification of the Federal amendment. Mrs. Lydia Wick Holmes, state chairman of the National Woman's party, is leading the fight for ratification. Miss Kate Gordon and Miss Jean Gordon, ardent suffragists for many years, are against the Federal amendment. While seeking suffrage, they have held that states' rights must be supreme and that suffrage should come by state enactment only.

Mrs. Holmes and leaders of her faction had planned to wage a fight for ratification in the coming session of the Louisiana Legislature, even though a sufficient number of states may have ratified it before that time. Their campaign has been in progress for several months, and they have been in communication with many members of the new Legislature.

John M. Parker, who will be the next Governor, is an avowed exponent of woman suffrage and urged it in every speech made in his campaign for Governor. It is regarded as certain that he will recommend to the Legislature that it ratify the amendment.

The surrender of Louisiana Legislature will have about seventy-five new men on its rolls. They constitute the unknown quantity. The old members are estimated to be about evenly divided on the question of suffrage.

New York Suffragists Far From Discouraged

New York suffragists received the news of the defeat of the Federal woman suffrage amendment in the lower House of the Delaware Legislature with a refusal to be discouraged. Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the National American Woman Suffrage Association and president of the International Woman Suffrage Alliance, believes that there is still hope in Delaware.

"We have not given up hope of the suffrage amendment passage in Delaware," said Mrs. Catt last night. "If, however, it fails in the Senate, or again in the lower House, there are other states. There is no doubt in my mind that the women of the country will be able to vote in the next Presidential election. The fight in Delaware is not finished. We shall go right on working."

Miss Mary Garrett Hay, of the Republican Women's National Executive Committee, also has faith in Delaware. Her belief is:

"Delaware still has a chance. The little state may redeem herself by ratification in the Senate and passage in the House."

"If woman suffrage fails of passage in Delaware we'll get another state. Ratification of the Federal woman suffrage amendment is assured. The thirty-sixth state will ratify in time for the women of the country to vote in the Presidential election."

Murphy Springs Coup in Fight To Beat Hines

Gets Last-Minute Order for Sixty-two Outside Inspectors to Act Tuesday in the 11th District Primary

Fraud Warning Is Issued

Candidate Terms Action of Boss "an Attempt at Political Assassination"

The 11th Assembly District, on the west side of Harlem, which has been in the throes of a Tammany primary election fight in which James J. Hines is fighting to retain his leadership and Charles F. Murphy is seeking to unseat him, was in a ferment last night over a last hour coup which Hines' supporters executed on Hines and his supporters.

Murphy's move, regarded by the present regime of the 11th as an admission of defeat by the boss, was to file with the Board of Elections in the last minute of the last hour of the day when such a step could be taken a list of sixty-two names of primary election inspectors, living in different parts of the city, to take the places of those living in the district and already selected for service next Tuesday.

Hines Warns Against Fraud

This means that the polls in the Hines district will be manned by strange men, presumably friendly to Hines, and that the inspectors, living in the district will be shunted to other parts of the city. The last minute change will affect thirty-one polling places out of the forty-five in the district, to each of which two men will be assigned.

When Mr. Hines was told last evening of what happened at the Board of Elections he said some things that were not complimentary to Mr. Murphy.

"This is another attempt by Murphy," said the Tammany district leader, "to disfranchise the people who are coming to the polls next Tuesday for the primary election. I want to give fair warning that if they break the election laws they will be committing a felony, and while I will spend the rest of my days, if necessary, to send to jail any man who comes into my district and commits any crime against the election laws."

Calls it Political Assassination

"From what I am able to learn about this transaction," Hines continued, "Phil Donohue, treasurer of Tammany Hall, communicated with Sheriff Knott, as chairman of the county committee, that he was sending by messenger for his signature a number of petitions designating certain persons as inspectors of election in my district. At the same time Donohue telephoned John B. Voorhis, president of the Board of Elections, to keep his office open until these certificates could be filed. It is a fine sample of the methods of Murphy, who now attempts my political assassination. I don't believe the rolled Democrats of the 11th Assembly District will permit it. We shall endeavor to protect ourselves against this invasion, and if Murphy and his cohorts believe we will submit to these indignities they will be astonished."

Hines, who was a lieutenant in the army during the war and served in France, announced that many of his followers at the polls would be former army men.

Sheriff Knott was asked last night about the filing of the certificates. He said: "All I know about the matter is that I signed a number of certificates that were regularly made out, which I did as a part of the routine duties of County Chairman. As to the contest in the 11th Assembly District, I don't know anything about it."

A. F. of L. Submits Bill to Put Packers Under U. S. Regulation

WASHINGTON, April 1.—Organized labor put itself on record today in favor of strict Federal regulation of the packing industry. Jackson H. Ralston, counsel for the American Federation of Labor, presented a new bill to the House Agricultural Committee, which already has several regulatory measures before it. He said in his bill was specifically designed to separate the packers from stockyard ownership and to prevent them from selling other products than meats.

Predicts Cotton Famine in 1921

WASHINGTON, April 1.—Predicting a cotton famine next year, Senator Smoot, Democrat, of South Carolina, told the Senate today that misleading statistics regarding cotton stocks on hand were being circulated by various cotton exchanges. More than one million bales of cotton, used for spinning, Senator Smith said, are included in the exchange statistics as available for fabric manufacture.

Words for "Dardanelle" $50,000; Music, $100

Composer Now Sues Publishers for His Share of the Profits

Felix Bernard, who wrote the music of "Dardanelle," received only $100 for his efforts, while Johnny S. Black, who furnished the words, has received $50,000 in royalties.

That statement is made by Bernard in an injunction and accounting proceeding filed in the Supreme Court yesterday against McCarthy & Fisher, publishers of "Dardanelle." Bernard alleges that the publishers, through their attorney, have been distributing the song without his consent, and that the $100 offer was made Bernard says he was "broke."

It is alleged by Bernard that he accepted the $100 offer, McCarthy & Fisher, on their written representation that "Dardanelle" was a poor seller because it was so difficult to play. That letter was written in November last, when the publishers asked him to accept the song would not sell. Bernard alleges those statements were false because 50,000 copies had already been sold and to date 1,000,000 copies have been distributed throughout the country. Besides, says Bernard, McCarthy & Fisher have sold the "mechanical rights," meaning player piano and phonograph.

Bernard, through H. J. and F. E. Goldsmith, applied to Justice Newburger for an injunction restraining the publishers from disposing of any more rights for an accounting of the profits from the song, and when the suit, is entitled to at least $50,000 and that he accepted the $100 because of the false representations of the defendants.

Farmers Blame Hoover For Loss of $5,000,000

Grain Men of Six States Ask Reimbursement Because of Wheat Price Fixing

WASHINGTON, April 1.—Grain dealers from Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska, Missouri and Illinois appealed today to the House Agricultural Committee to be reimbursed for losses said to aggregate $5,000,000 in 1917, caused by the fixing of the price of wheat at 60 cents less than the current market price.

Herbert Hoover, former Food Administrator, and Julius Barnes, president of the Government Grain Corporation, were declared by the dealers to be responsible for the loss. "We used every diligence to find out the attitude of the Grain Corporation and the food administration, but got no information," declared B. E. Clements, president of the Texas Grain Dealers' Association, and spokesman for the dealers. "Congress never would have enacted the food control law if it knew that price-fixing was planned."

Mr. Clements said the grain dealers had vainly asked an indorsement of their proposal by Mr. Barnes, who told them they "ought to have known" that a price was to have been fixed by the government.

"We showed him letters from Mr. Hoover and from his own office to the contrary," continued Mr. Clements, "and he intimated that we ought not to have believed them."

"But you did rely on their statements," asked Representative McLaughlin, Republican, Nebraska. "We took them to be men of their word," replied Clements. "You men are no doubt strong for Hoover for President," commented Mr. McLaughlin.

Stokes Declares for Wood Enters Race for Republican Delegate From Jersey

TRENTON, N. J., April 1.—Edward C. Stokes, chairman of the Republican State Committee, today filed a nominating petition as candidate for delegate-at-large to the Republican National Convention. He declared for Major General Leonard Wood for the Presidential nomination.

A petition to have the name of Senator Harding, of Ohio, entered in the New Jersey primaries on April 27 for the Republican Presidential choice also was filed today. The names of Major General Wood and Senator Johnson, of California, already have been filed.

Wilson Out Of Georgia Primaries

issue in as a part of the whole peace treaty issue, which, of course, would be paramount if the President should run.

"Do you realize," he asked the newspaper men, "that the scandalous expenditure of money by Mr. Newberry changed the destiny of the human race? His one vote in the Senate gave the Republicans control of the organization and enabled Senator Lodge to pack the Foreign Relations Committee with foes of the treaty. If the Senate had been Democratic the treaty would have been ratified long ago."

As ratification of the treaty would require a two-thirds vote, Mr. Cummings meant that had the Foreign Relations Committee been controlled by the Democrats the report would have been favorable to the treaty, and without the attacks and delays the treaty might have been ratified before so much feeling against it was aroused.

Another interesting point in view of the possibility of the President running for a third term was the flat statement of Mr. Cummings that the San Francisco convention would approve the treaty stand of the President. Here are Mr. Cummings' exact words on this, which repeated questions failed to induce him to elaborate:

"I have not the slightest doubt that the Democratic convention will indorse with the position of the President on the peace treaty."

Mr. Cummings was asked if there were any possibility that the President, in returning the treaty to the Senate some time before the conventions meet, might not indicate that he would accept certain reservations. He declined to answer.

His attention was called to the fact that his prediction that the convention would endorse the President's position on the peace treaty would be fulfilled even if the President agreed to accept the Lodge reservations, and the convention then endorsed the last position of the President.

Mr. Cummings smiled, but insisted that he did not wish to change his language.

Confidence that the President's health will permit him to take an "active part" in the Presidential campaign was expressed by Mr. Cummings.

"Whether he will be able actually to take the stump or not," Mr. Cummings said, "I cannot, of course, say. But he will undoubtedly be in a position to address himself to the people in writings and will have no difficulty in reaching the people."

The liquor question, he declared, is certain to come up before the Democratic and Republican national conventions in the consideration of platform planks, though he skirted clear of any expression of his own views on the subject.

Herbert Hoover's announcement of his willingness to accept the Republican nomination on a progressive platform, Mr. Cummings seemed to agree, had placed that individual clearly off the Democratic reservation, but he confined himself to this remark: "It is a sad thing to see an essential Democrat endeavoring to liberalize a stand-pat party."

Mr. Cummings stated that the work of the committee in organizing for the campaign had progressed further at this stage than ever before in the history of the party, so that, the moment the final gavel falls at San Francisco, he would be in position to turn over to the incoming committee a "completely organized, going concern."

Gov. Smith Recommends "Blue Sky" Legislation

Special Message Urges Law to Protect Public Against Spurious Securities Dealers

From a Staff Correspondent

ALBANY, April 1.—In a special message to-day Governor Smith urged that the Legislature take immediate steps to protect the investing public against dealers in spurious securities by enacting a "blue sky" law.

Accompanying the message were the majority and minority reports prepared by the committee appointed by the Governor last fall to study the situation and make recommendations. This committee has among its membership several New York financiers, including Charles H. Sabin, A. Barton Hepburn, Mortimer L. Schiff and William H. Porter.

The suggestions contained in the minority report are now before the Legislature in a bill introduced by Assemblyman John C. Slacer, Republican, of Erie County. The measure would give to the Superintendent of Banks supervision over the brokerage concerns by placing them under license. A fee of $100 and a $10,000 bond are called for. The majority report is more moderate in its provisions.

Edwards Out for Delegate

TRENTON, N. J., April 1.—Governor Edwards and Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City today filed nominating petitions with the Secretary of State to run as two of the "Big Four" delegates from New Jersey to the Democratic National Convention. The Governor in his petition requested that he be grouped with Mayor Hague, James R. Nugent, the Essex County Democratic leader, and Mayor Frederick W. Donnelly, of this city.

Governor Edwards has declared he would take the prohibition issue to the floor of the convention.

MALLORY

FINE HATS for MEN

—a quality proposition from every angle

DESPITE the high cost of everything needed in the production of fine hats for men, the quality of Mallory Hats today IS STILL ABOVE PAR! The hatter's fur used in their development costs as much per ounce as pure silver—but only the best is good enough for Mallory Hats AND THE MEN WHO WEAR THEM!

In New York only at Saks will you find Mallory Hats

Your favorite style is here, in both soft hats and derbies. Make your selection to-day. $7 and more.
